

Treatments

Why have treatments?

"Needing help doesn't have a look, but asking for it always looks beautiful"

Brittany Burgunder

Energy treatments work on the human system in a unique way.
They reach parts that other interventions do not, helping us access inner depths we might otherwise find inaccessible. They work well on their own, or alongside other modalities.

It'll be my privilege to facilitate treatments for you as and when the time is right.

Pellowah Energy Technique

'Pellowah opens the door to whatever wants to come through'

This could be a deep period of rest and recuperation, a burst of inspiration, a boost in creativity, a clearing of dross and confusion, a delving into deep emotion, or whatever it is you need at the time. I've personally experienced all of these and more with Pellowah.

Pellowah comes direct from Source. The practitioner does not direct the energy, the energy directs the practitioner. This means that the Pellowah energy responds directly to you and what you need, without requiring human intervention, direction or interpretation.

The focus of Pellowah is your consciousness, and whatever shift may be required for your highest potential. As we know, we naturally move through many different states and modes. At any given moment, what we need is a subtle blend of many factors. Pellowah has an uncanny capacity to tune into all of that and deliver what you need.

Past-Life Assimilation Technique

This technique erases any past-life blockages that are affecting your life at the present time. With this method, you can tap into past-life memory consciously and heal any trauma associated with the experience.

It will also give you a full understanding of how it has blocked your life up to that point.

The effects of this technique are usually dramatic as the personality changes to accommodate a less limited and fearful way of thinking that has been carried over from past life.

Arbah Technique

Arbah Healing is like an organ transplant but for the aura instead of the body.

This healing technique allows you to cut a piece of the aura from the auric field, treat it and replace it back into the aura giving the aura a more positive blueprint for change.

This form of healing is used in more extreme cases, especially mental illness and very stubborn unproductive thought patterns. It has also had good results with ADHD and similar cases.

Hands-off treatment ~ in person only.

By application only.
